1791			53 years	John Mulkey	1773-1844		Church	While he served the church in Kentucky and Tennessee, his family was very influential in the movement. "John Mulkey was not only a man with a majority in the 1809 controversy, but was a man with a majority of influence among his own family. His descendants have formed one of the significant families among the Disciples of Christ. Four of his six sons became ministers. His brother Phillip founded Mulkeytown, a Disciple community in southern Illinois. His grandson Aaron Hayes Mulkey helped to establish a Disciple colony in Kansas, and organized over 50 congregations in the Western states. The last member of this illustrious pioneer family to enter the ministry of the Disciples is Robert Mulkey who now serves our Grand Avenue Christian Church in Bozeman, Montana."	http://www.therestorationmovement.com/mulkeymtngnhse.htm

1871				Knowles Shaw	1834-1877	Humboldt	Revival	Soon after this he removed to Neosho County, Kansas, and did much for the advancement of the cause of Christ all through that region, holding meetings, gathering together the scattered Disciples, and giving an impulse to the cause that was not soon forgotten. While residing in Kansas he made frequent visits to different States; in every instance holding meetings with marked success. Among other places he preached at Galesburg, Illinois, and also in Peoria, using the Eureka tent for his meetings.	http://www.therestorationmovement.com/knowlesshaw.htm#4
1874	5	15		Knowles Shaw	1834-1877	Atchison	Revival	Knowles Shaw writes from Atchison, under date of May 15th: 'I have been here four days, and a glorious meeting is already developed. Ten added, and more expected.'	http://www.therestorationmovement.com/knowlesshaw.htm
1876				Joseph Emerson Cain	1846-1918	Belle Plaine	Church	Preached here after moving from Illinois and at other churches in Kansas throughout his life.	http://www.therestorationmovement.com/cain.htm

1887				John Martin Harrel	1868-1949		Meeting	John M. held the first meeting for the Cordell church, and continued to preach for it from time to time as well as all over the area. He was instrumental in the establishment of a number of congregations, but we have no detailed information about this. Churches were established early in Rocky, Sentinel, Dill City, Burns Flat (Then known as North Burns) and possibly other places. No doubt he had a hand in all of these. He never did what we call "local work," but traveled and preached extensively in Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Texas, and Arizona. This work began in 1887 and continued into the forties when the ravages of time took their inevitable toll.	http://www.therestorationmovement.com/harrel,jm.htm
1888			18 years	John Henry Lawson	1866-1935			preached in many midwest states including Arkansas, Kansas, Texas, Indian Territory (Oklahoma), Mississippi, Missouri, Tennessee, and Alabama. 1908			60 years	Marshall Keeble	1878-1968		Church	He dedicated himself to evangelistic work holding gospel meetings in brush-arbors, tents, barns and church buildings. He established over 200 congregations over the next sixty years of preaching. Sometimes he would baptize over 100 people in a single gospel meeting. In the 1930s he wrote to the Gospel Advocate stating that he had baptized over 15,000 people. Estimates range between 20,000 and 40,000 people as being baptized by this great gospel preacher in his life time. He was an evangelist that was most influential among both African American and Caucasian people. His preaching took him from Florida to Washington, and from California to the northeast. He made numerous trips to Nigeria where he had great success in evangelistic efforts. In later years, he often opened or closed college lectureships all over the country. ... Most of his work centered around the Nashville area but he was active in many endeavors including working with Nashville Christian Institute and holding meetings from Ohio to New Mexico, including Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Florida, and Georgia.	http://www.therestorationmovement.com/keeble.htm http://www.therestorationmovement.com/keeble3.htm

1934				Homer Hailey	1903-2000	Wichita	Church	held a 10 day meeting at the University and Walnut Street church with GK Wallace.	http://www.therestorationmovement.com/hailey.htm
1936			5 years	Harvey Dykes	1909-1982	Wichita	Church	served the Cleveland Ave church	http://www.therestorationmovement.com/dykes.htm
1936			43 years	Arthur Page Davis	1911-1979	Liberal	Church	Following graduation from A.C.U. he worked with the Penalosa, Kansas church, then with The Church in McPherson. He went back to Texas for a period of work with the Lipan church, but most of his life was destined to be spent in Kansas, and he was next with the Dodge City church, where he worked for about four years, and here did much radio work. From Dodge City he returned to Oklahoma, working with the congregation in Elk City, and again did much radio work. Pratt, Kansas was next, followed by Winfield, where he was living when he lost Joye. From Winfield he went to Mt. Home, Arkansas in the beautiful Ozarks for a profitable work of five or six years, then to Dill City in Western Oklahoma. (This was the closest he ever lived to his parents home.) From Dill City he went to St. Johns, Kansas where he preached until 1970. They moved to Liberal, Kansas and worked with the Fourth and Grant Sts. church for about six years, when he "retired" on Social Security. Though he had "retired" he did not quit preaching. The elders of the Western Ave. church in Liberal did not want him to leave Liberal, so they engaged him as "associate minister." He filled the pulpit when needed, taught the auditorium class on Sunday morning, and usually gave a short devotional on Wednesday evening after the classes. He also preached when needed in nearby churches. He had expressed the desire to preach as long as he could, and with this arrangement he was quite happy and kept busy. He had always conducted many meetings in Kansas, and this work continued. They bought a home in Liberal, and when he died, she continued there, and The Church was careful to see to it that she had plenty to live on. (That's Christianity!) He had been quite active in the bus work, and loving children as he did, this was especially pleasant to him. He was interested in mission work and helped in one special effort in Salt Lake City, when he went there to help with the door knocking. He was also there for the Catewood-Farnsworth debate, and felt that much good came from these efforts.	http://www.therestorationmovement.com/davis,ap.htm

1800s				Matthew & Jane McKeever	1797-1884		School	She was the sister of Alexander Campbell. They were an influential couple in the "first half-century of the Stone-Campbell Movement". They opened a school for women at Pleasant Hill Kentucky which served as a station on the underground railroad and were abolitionists. "Jane and Matthew McKeever were described by a contemporary as "rank abolitionists," and were friends of John Brown of Kansas and Harper's Ferry fame, who was also a wool dealer. Pleasant Hill was an important station on the local "underground railroad," spiriting slaves to freedom in Canada. Apparently, Jane's antislavery sentiments were much strong-or at least more clearly demonstrated-than those of her nearby brother."	http://www.therestorationmovement.com/mckeever.htm
1800s				David Staats Burnet	1808-1867		Writing	In the memoirs of Alexander Campbell it is said that he was quite low in stature, but erect in carriage. His head was large and finely formed; his eyes prominent, full and sparkling; his features regular, with a mouth somewhat large, but firmly set, while in his bearing he was remarkably self-possessed, dignified and courteous, giving himself wholly to the cause of the Restoration. After a few years he became one of its most distinguished and successful advocates, delighting large audiences by his eloquent and copious diction, and his able presentations of the principles of the gospel, which he widely disseminated, not only in Cincinnati, but through many of the States from Maryland and Virginia to Kansas.	http://www.therestorationmovement.com/burnet.htm
